I'm not weird, or a crazy person - I'm an artist. I've spent most of my life surrounded by the arts; I've painted, photographed, sculpted, wanted to be a pastry chef, worked for an animation studio, and most recently as a film editor. I've worked in every level of the industry; low budget, high budget, many different kinds of jobs, using all kinds of software. When I edit my photos, I edit them in RAW, or with the DNG format. Every single time I've used the software, I've needed to look up a book, or a page of a book, or read or hear the answer to a problem. Since I don't have the time to sit in front of the machine, it has stopped being fun. Additionally, my skill has fallen way behind what I need to do to keep up with the changes Adobe is introducing to the program. When I do find a book, I have to not only read a long chapter, but also try to remember it all, and be able to apply it. When I finally figure something out, by this point I've probably wasted half my day.
